

sound futures youth music consultation: Tender for Facilitator sound futures is seeking to recruit a dedicated and energetic freelance facilitator with experience of working with young people in challenging circumstances, to deliver a cutting edge weekly music consultation programme in Hodge Hill Constituency. We would also welcome proposals from teams of two facilitators.

About sound futures

sound futures is Birmingham's Youth Music Action Zone. We help children and young people make music in areas where there where few or no such opportunities before. We are one of twenty two Youth Music Action Zones funded by Youth Music. Working in some of the most disadvantaged areas of the city, sound futures has a reputation and track record for high quality music-based project work with young people.

Overall Aim of the Programme

For young people in Hodge Hill to experience, evaluate and develop user-led music activity.

Programme Objectives

- For young people to experience and evaluate a range of music activity
- For young people to develop project ideas which could engage their peers in the local community
- To develop young people's life skills, leadership qualities and community awareness.

Faciliator - skill requirements

Experience of facilitating consultation-based projects or delivering arts-based workshops with young people

Excellent organisation, planning and time management skills

Experience of evaluation

Confidence, energy, charisma and a passion for engaging young people in the arts

Excellent communicator, self-starter, flexible, able to work evenings or weekends

Awareness of equal opportunities and child protection

Timeframe

The programme is planned to run for 20 weeks, beginning in late February. Days and timings will be discussed upon successful selection.

HOW TO APPLY

Put together a proposal in a format of your choice, showing how you would meet the above brief (programme aim, objectives and facilitator skill requirements). Return your proposal to sound futures along with an up-to-date CV, details of two relevant referees and details of your standard session rate.

The deadline for proposals is Tuesday 9th February 2010 at 5pm.
